

Graduate Student Grant Writing Bootcamp

Finding and securing research funding is increasingly important. This two-day intensive writing “bootcamp” will provide instruction on how to write a persuasive grant proposal and give students a chance to write certain aspects of a proposal and receive feedback from peers and instructors. This is a great opportunity to hone your skills to apply for that first research fellowship or grant.

270 MCDONALD
BUILDING

9:00 AM – 2:00 PM
LUNCH AND SNACKS
PROVIDED

JUNE/19TH How to Find Research Funding in a Competitive Environment

Research Development will give an overview of funding opportunities available for graduate students as well as provide training on BYU's two online subscription databases dedicated to finding and tracking funding opportunities.

This session will be held from 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. in 2233 HBLL.

JUNE/20TH Developing a Fundable Idea and Persuasive Writing

This session will cover how to develop a fundable idea for your grant proposal. Instruction will also include writing persuasive titles, abstracts, and needs statements with time given for writing and reviewing.

JUNE/21ST Editing, Rewriting and Marketing Your Research

Instruction for this day will include opportunities for group review of abstracts and needs statements; writing in plain language; tips and best practices for editing and rewriting and how to market yourself and your research to funding agencies.

Graduate Student Grant Writing Bootcamp

Finding and securing research funding is increasingly important. This two-day intensive writing “bootcamp” will provide instruction on how to write a persuasive grant proposal and give students a chance to write certain aspects of a proposal and receive feedback from peers and instructors. This is a great opportunity to hone your skills to apply for that first research fellowship or grant.

270 MCDONALD
BUILDING

9:00 AM – 2:00 PM
LUNCH AND SNACKS
PROVIDED

JUNE/19TH How to Find Research Funding in a Competitive Environment

Research Development will give an overview of funding opportunities available for graduate students as well as provide training on BYU's two online subscription databases dedicated to finding and tracking funding opportunities.

This session will be held from 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. in 2233 HBLL.

JUNE/20TH Developing a Fundable Idea and Persuasive Writing

This session will cover how to develop a fundable idea for your grant proposal. Instruction will also include writing persuasive titles, abstracts, and needs statements with time given for writing and reviewing.

JUNE/21ST Editing, Rewriting and Marketing Your Research

Instruction for this day will include opportunities for group review of abstracts and needs statements; writing in plain language; tips and best practices for editing and rewriting and how to market yourself and your research to funding agencies.

Graduate Student Grant Writing Bootcamp

Finding and securing research funding is increasingly important. This two-day intensive writing “bootcamp” will provide instruction on how to write a persuasive grant proposal and give students a chance to write certain aspects of a proposal and receive feedback from peers and instructors. This is a great opportunity to hone your skills to apply for that first research fellowship or grant.

270 MCDONALD
BUILDING

9:00 AM – 2:00 PM
LUNCH AND SNACKS
PROVIDED

JUNE/19TH How to Find Research Funding in a Competitive Environment

Research Development will give an overview of funding opportunities available for graduate students as well as provide training on BYU's two online subscription databases dedicated to finding and tracking funding opportunities.

This session will be held from 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. in 2233 HBLL.

JUNE/20TH Developing a Fundable Idea and Persuasive Writing

This session will cover how to develop a fundable idea for your grant proposal. Instruction will also include writing persuasive titles, abstracts, and needs statements with time given for writing and reviewing.

JUNE/21ST Editing, Rewriting and Marketing Your Research

Instruction for this day will include opportunities for group review of abstracts and needs statements; writing in plain language; tips and best practices for editing and rewriting and how to market yourself and your research to funding agencies.

Graduate Student Grant Writing Bootcamp

Finding and securing research funding is increasingly important. This two-day intensive writing “bootcamp” will provide instruction on how to write a persuasive grant proposal and give students a chance to write certain aspects of a proposal and receive feedback from peers and instructors. This is a great opportunity to hone your skills to apply for that first research fellowship or grant.

270 MCDONALD
BUILDING

9:00 AM – 2:00 PM
LUNCH AND SNACKS
PROVIDED

JUNE/19TH How to Find Research Funding in a Competitive Environment

Research Development will give an overview of funding opportunities available for graduate students as well as provide training on BYU's two online subscription databases dedicated to finding and tracking funding opportunities.

This session will be held from 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. in 2233 HBLL.

JUNE/20TH Developing a Fundable Idea and Persuasive Writing

This session will cover how to develop a fundable idea for your grant proposal. Instruction will also include writing persuasive titles, abstracts, and needs statements with time given for writing and reviewing.

JUNE/21ST Editing, Rewriting and Marketing Your Research

Instruction for this day will include opportunities for group review of abstracts and needs statements; writing in plain language; tips and best practices for editing and rewriting and how to market yourself and your research to funding agencies.